DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment was received on 3/30/06 and has been entered and made of record. Currently, claims 2-10, and 21-23 are pending.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments, see page 6, filed 3/30/06, with respect to claims 2-10 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claims 2-8 and 10 has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-10 and 21-23 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 2-10, the examiner believes that it would not have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the processing of a print job by the printer that sends portions of the job to additional printing devices and only using the returned information when it is received in a timely manner, with the other limitations set forth in the claims.

Regarding claims 21-23, the examiner believes that it would not have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine a principal printing device that sends a different portion of a document to each of a plurality of printing devices wherein the printing devices convert the portion of the document into print-ready format and return the portion in the print-ready format back to the principal printing device where all the portions in print-ready format will be printed, with the other limitations set forth in the claims.

The closest prior art, previously noted as Barry et al. (US 6825943) discloses a system that partitions a print job file into select portions that will be transmitted to a plurality of RIP engines for processing and subsequent printing. However, Barry fails to disclose a principal printing device that sends a different portion of a document to each of a plurality of printing devices wherein the printing devices convert the portion of the document into print-ready format and return the portion in the print-ready format back to the principal printing device where all the portions in print-ready format will be printed.

Therefore, for these reason, the claims are rendered allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
